PREVIOUS JOURNEY OF $100,000 TO FINANCE PROMOTERS' RAILROADS

Scheme Where Banks and Residents of Ulster, Delaware, Greene, Schoharie, Schenectady and Albany Counties Lost Money.

A story of high finance in railroad building in Delaware county is related in the report of Philip Elting, Jr., of this city. Martin Saxe of New York city and Arden L. Norton of Schenectady, who were promoters of the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company, which has been confirmed by Judge Howard at special term of the supreme court at Troy.

The commission was appointed by Judge Ruddy to hear and determine any and all claims of the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company and its receiver by reason of the construction of the Gilboa reservoir. The commission organized April 15, 1921, and was reappointed in March, 1922, and again reappointed in March, 1923. A number of hearings were had and a large amount of testimony was given, but as a result of the testimony the commission finds that whatever rights the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company at any time had or claimed to have, were abandoned, lost and forfeited, and that all of the claims of the so-called railroad company and its receiver, except for the taking of the fee of three parcels, should be dismissed.

The claim made by Receiver Proctor in connection with the fee of the three parcels mentioned, and the proceeding was taken to recover such damages as he believed were sustained by the company and its stockholders. The latter were widely scattered and were especially numerous in Delaware, Schoharie, Ulster, Schenectady and Albany counties, where the fee of the three parcels was sold to some of the promoters of the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company, a firm of Searing & Company, a firm of New York city promoters. The fee was bought by financial institutions as well as by individuals. Suchholders who had believed their stock to be worthless hunted up their certificates when the receiver filed a claim against the city of New York which might have enriched the company exchequer, but such certificates have resumed their status of no value.

The Delaware and Eastern Railway Company was the result of a merger of the Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company and the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company, which were organized about eighteen years ago by Searing & Company, but neither of which ever constructed any railroad.

The Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company filed a certificate of incorporation with the secretary of state in July, 1906, purporting to incorporate with a capital stock of $200,000 for the purpose of constructing and operating a railroad from the village of East Branch, Delaware county, to the town of Hancock in the same county, a distance of seven miles, but no such railroad was ever constructed. The commission reports that a pretended payment of ten per cent of its authorized capital stock, namely, $20,000 in cash, was made by the company, but such payment was made in form only and was not actually made in cash and was not in compliance with the law of the state of New York, and that the railroad received nothing except a credit of $20,000 on the books of Searing & Company, a syndicate which was organized to construct the railroad. The commission finds that the pretended organization of the so-called Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company was void, and the filing of its certificate of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state was void, and the railroad company never had any existence whatever either in law or in fact.

At the same time, a certificate of the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company was filed at Albany, purporting to incorporate a railroad corporation with that name with a capital stock of $1,000,000, for the purpose of constructing and operating a railroad from the village of Schenectady, through the counties of Schoharie, Greene, Schoharie and Schenectady, but no such railroad was ever constructed. In this case also, says the commission, a pretended payment of ten per cent of its authorized capital stock, namely, $100,000 in cash, was made by the company, but in this case also, such payment was made in form only and was not actually made in good faith or in compliance with law, and the railroad company received nothing except a credit of $100,000 on the books of Searing & Company. In this case also, the commission finds that the so-called Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company never had any existence whatever either in law or in fact.

The manner in which the pretended payment of ten per cent of the capital stock of both railroads was made is described in detail by the commission in the case of the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company. This amount was obtained by Searing & Company upon the check for $100,000 drawn upon the Empire Trust Company of New York, with which company Searing & Company had a deposit account. The check was drawn on or about July 28, 1906, and on that day Searing & Company's balance with the Empire Trust Company was $25,000.

Upon presentation of the Searing & Company $100,000 check to the

Blake Held For Assault

Reginald W. Blake was arrested Saturday afternoon by Undersheriff Tunis Haulenbeck on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Henry E. McKenzie, which charges Blake with assault in the third degree. It is alleged that Blake struck his stepson, Albert Van Weismere, on the head and body, and also struck his wife, who is the boy's mother, when she went to the boy's assistance. Blake was arraigned and his trial set down for Monday afternoon. Being unable to furnish bail in $500, he was brought to the Ulster county jail.

Week End Auto Accidents

Several minor auto accidents were reported to the police department over the week end. Samuel Walters of 572 Delaware avenue, reported that H. Gutz of Ulster Park ran into his car at Port Ewen, damaging it considerably.

Saturday evening the machines of George Steen of Buffalo and Michael Lucchese of East Strand collided with slight damage.

John Flemming of 436 Washington avenue reported a collision with a car driven by an Allaben resident. The damage was slight.

Louis Seamon of 165 O'Neill street reported that Mrs. Charles Burger of Henry street ran into his car at O'Neill street and Tromper avenue. An auto collision between the cars of Jacob Margolis of this city and Frank Garfio of Naugatuck, Conn., was reported.

Gus Hooley of Brooklyn and Elmer Schatin of 116 Main street had a collision at Mill street and Hasbrouck avenue.

Lillian Stopski of 427 Delaware avenue had a collision with a car of William Berry of 17 West Strand at Delaware avenue and Hamratty street, Saturday afternoon. Both cars were damaged slightly.

Federated P-T. A. April Meeting

The April meeting of the Federated Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held Wednesday, April 23, at the high school. There were a goodly number present, all the schools being represented except No. 1.

After reports of committees were given, final arrangements for the entertainment under the auspices of the council were perfected. An invitation is extended to everyone, both children and adults, to attend this entertainment. A very small admission will be charged. The sum realized after the artists are paid will be used by the council to carry on the work of organization. The date is April 30, at four o'clock and a complete program will appear later giving an idea of the variety and excellence of the affair.

The spring conference of the Poughkeepsie district, which embraces Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Middletown and villages near these cities, will be held at Middletown Saturday, May 24. These conferences are instructive and entertaining to all and especially helpful to parents and teachers. After appointing Mrs. H. P. Dederick, president of the council, as delegate to the Middletown conference, the meeting adjourned.

TWO DRUNKS AND A SPEEDER FACING JUDGE SCHIRICK

Spencer Ennis of 67 Green street was arrested Saturday by Motorcycle Officer Soper on a charge of driving 20 miles an hour. Mr. Ennis pleaded guilty and was fined $5 by Judge Schirick in police court.

Edward McInelch was arrested Sunday on Thomas street on a charge of public intoxication. He was found by Officer Harman and had a deep cut over one eye which was dressed at the Kingston City Hospital. Edward was fined $5.

Silas Conorman was picked up drunk on Henry street by Officer Van Buren. Silas also contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Weber's Get Lintment Agency. Weber's Pharmacy of 55 Broadway have taken over the agency of the Myer Magic Lintment. The Weber Pharmacy will be the sole distributor of this lintment, which has been on the market for a great number of years.

Thys Ponckhockie Property. The Steindler Realty Agency has sold the property of Adele Bregman on Ponckhockie street to Edwin Buck of this city.

Negro Burned to Death in Shack

He and Companion Were Asleep at Schleede Brickyard When Fire Started From Unknown Cause.

Warren Marshall, aged about 35 years, was burned to death Sunday evening about 10:30 o'clock at the Schleede brickyard in the town of Esopus, when a shack in which he and another colored man were living was consumed by fire. Marshall was born at Cheraw, North Carolina, and was employed at the brickyard of M. W. Schleede, south of Port Ewen.

From what could be learned of the affair, fire started after the two men had gone to bed. The two men were asleep when one was awakened by the blaze. He attempted to drag his companion from the bunk in the shack but was unable to reach him and had to flee for his life. Coroner Conner was notified and issued the necessary permit to have the body moved to his undertaking parlors in this city. The body will be held pending word from relatives. Information in regard to the dead man is very meager.

How the fire started is unknown.

Wallis Again To Speak Here

The annual meeting of the Kingston Young Men's Christian Association will be held on Monday evening, May 12.

Good speaking and good music have always been furnished heretofore and this year the speaker of the evening will be the Hon. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner or corrections of New York city and formerly commissioner of immigration. He was also at one time deputy police commissioner of New York city.

Mr. Wallis was born and reared in Kentucky. He combines the grace of the south land with a brilliant analytical mind, a virile personality and an extraordinary oratorical ability. He knows his facts and his most interesting way of telling them warrants a large attendance.

The banquet will be served by the Ladies' Auxiliary at 6:15 p. m.

Hotel Burns, Loss $30,000

Joseph Berger's Place, Accommodating 75 in Summer, Total Loss—Insurance Only $8,000.

The Wittenberg Hotel, a Jewish summer resort owned by Joseph Berger, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday about noon, with its contents. The fire was first seen by Mr. Berger about 11:30 o'clock, who noticed smoke coming from the front porch, he being on the lawn raking leaves. He ran to a well and got some water and with his wife tried to put out the fire but a high wind was blowing which fanned the flames which soon spread throughout the house. A Buick car standing near the building was badly damaged by the fire. Mr. Berger and Mrs. Berger, the latter having been ill for some time, had to fight through dense smoke to get their children out, the family occupying a few rooms in the hotel during the winter. The Wittenberg Hotel had accommodations for about seventy-five guests and was well patronized during the summer and fall season. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with $8,000 insurance.

THE WEEK AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The spring conference of the North River Presbyterian Church at Rondout will be held in the Presbyterian Church at Cold Spring on Wednesday, May 7. The speakers will be Mrs. Calvin Wright of Tenehew, China, and Dr. William Bancroft Hill of Vassar College who will speak on "Law Enforcement." It is expected that a number of ladies from the church will attend the conference.

The subject for Thursday evening's conference and prayer service will be "House Cleaning."

ROTARY CHOOSES QUEBEC FOR DISTRICT CONFERENCE

Quebec was chosen Saturday by the 1,200 Rotary Club delegates who are the guests of Syracuse as the scene of the next conference of the 28th district of International Rotary. Invitation to meet in the next conference in Quebec was by J. Stephen Boyer, president of the Quebec Rotary Club, to the delegates in session at the Mizpah.

DAVIS GIVEN CHARGE OF N. Y. POLICE CAMP

Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright and a party of deputy commissioners and police officers returned to New York today, after spending three days at the police camp near Palenville. Commissioner Enright and party installed former Inspector William Davis as superintendent of the police camp.

The Service Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church will hold a food sale at Elting's drug store next Saturday afternoon from 2 o'clock on. Home made food of all kinds will be on sale.

Logic Unshaken By Satire Says Jenkins's New Brief

Corporation Counsel James Jenkins has sent a brief to the public service commission in reply to the brief sent by Howard Chipp in answer to the brief submitted by Mr. Jenkins, all of which were printed in The Freeman a few days ago. The latest brief reads:

The fare that the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company could charge was limited to five cents. This limitation was provided for by the common council. The public service commission had no jurisdiction to increase it.

The railroad company induced the city in June, 1918, to surrender some of its rights. The question is: "How much did it give away at that time?" The city now contends that it only gave the right to have the public service commission fix a new franchise fare and, that, it having fixed six cents as such fare, no further jurisdiction to modify is left to the commission.

If this contention is correct, then the fare fixed by the public service commission at six cents is the franchise fare and there is no distinction between this case and the Quinby and Village of Mamaroneck cases.

It is inconceivable that the common council in 1918 intended to surrender for all time the right reserved by it by a former common council and to deprive the city of a franchise fare limitation. Even the railroad company concedes that the original franchise fare of five cents would have stood had not the common council surrendered some of the city's rights.

Notwithstanding the cutting sarcasm and burning satire of the learned attorney for the petitioner, it is respectfully submitted that the logic of the city's contention still remains.

League to Play Twilight Ball

Physical Director Norman Miller of the local Y. M. C. A. has issued a call for a meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock to organize a Sunday School Baseball League in Kingston to play twilight ball this season. All games will be staged at the Athletic Field. It is hoped that every Sunday school interested in baseball will have a representative present at the meeting this evening when an organization will be effected.

ECKER IS NAMED FOR STATE CHAMBER HEAD

Metropolitan Officer Stated to Succeed Bush.

New York, April 28.—Frederick H. Ecker, banker, railroad director and first vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, has been nominated for the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York to succeed Irving T. Bush, it was announced today. Nominations for vice presidents include J. P. Morgan, Elbert H. Gary, L. E. Lorge and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The election will be at the annual meeting of the chamber May 1.

Mr. Ecker, a native of Ulster county, began his career as a messenger boy with the Metropolitan life insurance company in 1883 at a salary of $4 a week. He now is director of the Chase National bank, director and vice president of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railroad, and a director of the Western Pacific, the St. Louis and San Francisco, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, Denver and Rio Grande and Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

Mr. Ecker is a son of Frank Ecker who resides at Mt. Tremper and a brother of Harry Ecker of the same place and of Mrs. Hiram Bell of 287 Washington avenue.

RESCUERS UNABLE TO REACH 180 MINERS ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSION

West Virginia Mine Scene of What Seems to be Another Tragedy—No Bodies 1,500 Feet Inside Entrance—Rescue Train On Way.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Wheeling, West Va., April 28.—Within the Mill mine at Benwood of the Wheeler Steel Corporation today are entombed 180 or more miners whose fate is unknown. They were entombed at 7:10 this morning by an explosion that occurred within five minutes after the mine train carrying them to work had passed into the mine.

Frantic efforts to reach the men have been unavailing. At the mouth of the mine standing in the rain were frantic women, with tears coursing down their faces, to whom clinging little children in terror unable to understand just what has occurred. Mill officials were unable to obtain any assurance as to the fate that has come upon their men without the shaft.

Until the rescue train from Pittsburgh arrives it is hardly possible anything definite in the way of rescue can be attempted. At 11 o'clock gas was belching from the mouth of the mine in quantities such as made it unsafe to approach within 100 feet of the opening.

Shortly after 10:30 this morning the first effort to enter the mine to determine the fate of the entombed men was made by a rescue party equipped with gas resisting apparatus, but after penetrating 1,500 feet into the shaft they were forced to abandon the effort because the passage was blocked by debris. No trace of any of the miners was found.

A rescue crew from the Hitehman coal company also at Moundsville, who were rushed to an entry 12 miles away on Roze's Run, in an automobile truck, were delayed by going over a hillside along the road, but continued on their way only to find it impossible to force an entry.

Iannone Paid A $500 Fine

M. Iannone of Saugerties, who was convicted in county court last week of tampering with gas pipes to secure gas without it passing through a meter, was fined $500, or one day in jail for every $5 unpaid by County Judge Fowler. Iannone paid. Court then adjourned to chambers.

COONS-WEMPLE Nuptial Saturday

Cornwright Home. M. Saugerties. Scene of Brilliant Ceremony When C. Kenneth Coons and Miss Eleanor V. Wemple Are Married.

One of the prettiest and most fashionable weddings of the year occurred Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when C. Kenneth Coons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Coons and Miss Eleanor V. Wemple, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. V. Wemple of Saugerties were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cornwright in Saugerties. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Homer L. Scheffer and the Rev. J. V. Wemple, father of the bride, and took place in front of the fireplace which was banked with Marguerites, lilies, smilax and spring flowers.

The bride was handsomely clad in broadcloth and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies. The bride's veil was caught with orange blossoms and ropes of pearls. The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Wemple of Albany, sister of the bride, who wore a handsome blue figured georgette crepe dress with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and forget-me-nots. The best man was Calvin Kenard of Boston, Mass. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Hannan of Boston, Mass., Miss Elizabeth Shults, Miss Ethel Schawb, Miss Gertrude Burham and Miss Charlotte Heley of Saugerties, who were very beautifully gowned in various shades of georgette and carried corsage bouquets of sweet peas and roses. The ribbon bouquet was Master Gilbert H. Brinnier, who was clad in white satin suits. The house was attractively decorated in smilax, daffodils and spring flowers. About a hundred guests were present, among those from out of town being: Miss Louise Pfaff of Ticonderoga, N. Y., Misses Margaret Van Kirk, Priscilla Forte of Greenwich, N. Y., Miss Evelyn Houghtaling of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Barrett and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Bohr and George L. Rucker of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. William Fiskel and son of Hastings-on-Hudson, Mrs. Edmund Cheronneau and son of New York city, Mrs. W. W. Wemple, Wallace Wemple, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wemple, City Judge and Mrs. James Liddle, Robert A. Liddle, Henry Smith and Miss Ruth Wemple of Schenectady, Mr. and Mrs. Elmhurst of Georgia, Miss Louise Randall and guests of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Maxwell, Corporation Counsel and their wife, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cantine, and others of Saugerties.

A beautiful wedding supper was served after which dancing was heartily enjoyed to the strains of Mollott's orchestra of Kingston. The bride's gifts to her attendants were to the bridesmaids, triple silver bracelets, to the ribbon bearer, silver napkin rings. The bride's gift to the groom was a handsome gold pocket comb. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum wrist watch and to the best man a silver belt buckle. The happily wedded couple left Saturday morning for Atlantic City, where they will stay for two weeks. Upon their return they will occupy their newly furnished apartment on Market street, Saugerties. Among the most beautiful gifts received were a very handsome dining room suite, and a chest of sterling silver and many others. The bride is a graduate of Smith College. The groom attended Worcester Academy and is associated with the Tissue Company of Saugerties.

The bride gave the maid of honor a platinum pin.

Friday evening a reception and dance was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Coons, for the members of the bridal party.

Set Style for Milady's Sleeves

Just Arm Coverings Allow for All Fashions Thus Far Mentioned.

The present generous temper of the fashion provides equally for her whose arms are symmetrical and her whose are either acutely thin or over-plump. For sleeves, according to the fashion from Paris, may be long or short, loose or tight, voluminous or closely fitted.

They are quite impartial in her color. She features the very short sleeve, the very long one and none at all. The long sleeves are tight fitting at the wrist and then flare gradually to halfway between the wrist and elbow. At this point they are fitted to the three-quarters long bell-shaped upper. These sleeves are frequently made of two materials or two parts of the same material. The upper portion may be trimmed with rows of tiny buttons.

Chapel is equally tolerant. Her long sleeves show sleeves which are long, short, loose or tight fitting. Her fashions are slightly partisan in direction of the moderately loose sleeve, which is finished with a narrow wristband. A very tailored, trim sleeve is achieved through the setting of the sleeves exactly at the shoulder line.

James makes no secret of her preference for the short sleeve, occasionally set in, and occasionally cut in.

Use White Flannel and Green Wool Embroidery

For warm days of spring this very smart three-piece suit of white flannel with green wool embroidery is very desirable.

High-Colored Neckwear Is Much in Evidence

Rarely, if ever, has neckwear been so smart, so adaptable, so varied as it is this season. There is no limit, apparently, to its style possibilities, for the mode of today really demands accompanying smart accessories. The tailored suit requires the new mannish waistcoat and the gay-colored scarf, the simple frock necessitates smart touches at the neck and wrist, while evening gowns are frequently accompanied by filmy scarfs.

Much colored neckwear is used, sometimes the entire model being a solid color, or else pipings and bindings of a contrasting shade are introduced. Blue, green, yellow, all the range of tans and beige, are notable, with red and black used more frequently as a trimming note.

One cannot overemphasize the importance of the scarf. It is seen everywhere, and may be either an accessory or an integral part of the costume itself. There are many beautiful ones, and they are as varied as the ways of wearing them. Printed and hand-painted silks, hounds and lace knitted weaves, two or more solid colors, combined in the same scarf, all are smart.

Black Shoes Popular

Black shoes seem to have captured the fancy of the moment. They are a great relief after the variegated sandals of red and purple and green which every modiste's assistant is now wearing in Paris. Both in patent and in lustrous kid these are good form, and evening slippers also of black satin or moire buckled with paste or wrought silver clasps give great distinction.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, April 28.—Paul Wolf of Livingston street is spending some time in Glens Falls.

Henry York of the Martin Cantine Co. is in New York city on business.

Born, on April 26, to Mr. and Mrs. William J. Tobby of Glensco, N. Y., a baby girl, Marion Elizabeth.

Sports Coat of Silk

New figured silks are inspired by the touch of a famous Russian artist. The designs and colors are exceptionally brilliant. A three-quarter length sports coat of silk in which red and black are the predominating colors is simply trimmed with bands of silver gimp and wider folds of red and black. The effect is wonderfully fresh and colorful.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, April 28.—Mrs. Eva Wood and son, Kenneth Wood, of Kingston called on Mrs. Wood's sister, Miss Mildred Short, on Broadway, Friday evening.

The Ever Ready Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Robert Torrens on Broadway this evening. Hope Temple, No. 30, Pythian Sisters, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The deputy and her staff will be present at this meeting. All members, especially brother knights, are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Gorse of Schenectady were week end guests of the Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Gorse at the Methodist parsonage.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will be held Thursday afternoon, May 1, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Mead Davis on Main street.

Mrs. George Sieben and son, Herbert, of New York city and Mrs. Joe Perrine of Kingston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Perrine on Broadway Saturday.

Vincent Lefever and George Smith of New York city spent the week end at their home on Broadway.

The entertainment given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Reformed Church in Pythian Hall Friday evening, was well attended and enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to hear, as there were young people present who made such a disturbance that those who sat near them could not hear a word was said. Unless the parents of these young people take them in hand they will be taken care of by authoritative persons.

Mrs. George T. Van Aken of Broadway is visiting at her home in Bloomington, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crook of Kingston spent Sunday with Mrs. Sarah Contant on Schryver street.

On Tuesday evening, April 29, Port Ewen Lodge, No. 556, I. O. O. F., will hold its anniversary service in its lodge room in Pythian Hall at 8 o'clock. The Rev. C. H. Polhemus will deliver the anniversary address. After the services refreshments will be served and a social hour will be enjoyed. A cordial invitation is extended to all Odd Fellows and their families.

Chic Separate Skirts, Sweaters and Jackets

Among the styles presented in the satisfactory separate skirts, sweaters and jackets are some very fetching models. Plaids and checks are seen among the newest importations, and skirts of plain goods with sweater or jacket in the figured material. One snappy little suit is made of soft wool, an English material of gray, having a large plaid in white, and the sweater jacket of the same goods is bound, collar, sleeves and pockets, with white braid.

Block checks in black and white and in colors with contrasting shades, or with white, and diamond-shaped checks, are seen in gowns, hats, sweaters and every sort of dress accessory. This is sometimes the pattern woven or printed in the goods; or the effect is attained by the applique of two materials, one of glossy, the other of dull surface. The checks appear among the best and latest models.

Latitude in Styles Is Noticeable This Season

Such wide latitude in styles is shown that the leading vogue is difficult to define. The straightline, the chemise frock, oftenest headed and embroidered for evening wear, holds its popularity. Many variants of this silhouette are shown in the new silks fabrics with the introduction of novel effects in panels, scarfs, sashes, capes. There are efforts to revive the pannier, and the circular skirt and godel are successfully done by some. But the novelty of the moment is the tunic. This model, breaking the line between the tubelike frock and the full-skirted gown, is a grateful novelty which promises to develop in many attractive phases. Simultaneously there are appearing new forms of the sleeve, the future of which is awaited with interest.

Seaweed Like Pork

Meat of the dugong, or seaweed, tastes similar to pork, and is enjoyed by the natives and whites of western Australia.

Oldest Hospital

Bellevue hospital in New York city is probably the oldest hospital in the United States. Its history runs back about 155 years.

NOTICE TO TRUSTEES OF RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS, SENDING PUPILS TO THE KINGSTON HIGH SCHOOL.

At a meeting of the board of education of the city of Kingston on Friday evening, March 28, 1924, the tuition for non-resident pupils attending said high school was set at $1.00 per month for the year for the school year beginning August 1, 1924, and ending July 31, 1925.

M. J. MICHAEL, Superintendent of Schools. "From childhood I was troubled with a swelling of the nose and throat which gradually became worse. Many eminent catarrh specialists, without results. My friends advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I tried it and almost at once I felt a great relief. I have since learned how far this remedy goes. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has worked wonders for me and I am now free from a new ailment."—Eugene H. Kelly, Chiropractic Research Bureau statement No. 1911.

WALES AND ILEANA.

The story comes from London that the scheme of the heads of the British royal house and the Queen of Roumania to display the charms of the latter's daughter, Ileana, before the Prince of Wales is advancing toward success. The story goes that after months of this the Prince, though "averse to matrimony," has shown a liking for Ileana, speaking of her as a "jolly little kid" and a "good sport." Wales is even reported to have said that if his parents desire the match he will not refuse to consider their wishes, provided he and Ileana "hit it off." The ultimate prospect of this would seem to be the better because the Princess, who is not yet sixteen, is described as "beautiful, slim, tall and graceful as a deer, strong and healthy, fair-skinned, with masses of silky hair and eyes shaded by such long dark lashes that it is difficult to ascertain their color." She is also clever, quick of tongue, gay and "rides superbly."

One thing that has helped, it is said, was the wise decision of King George and Queen Mary some time back to "stop badgering" the Prince on the subject of getting married. If Wales and Ileana finally "hit it off," the union will be more appropriate and in keeping with the high position of British royalty than the un-informed might suppose. For the young Princess is a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria through her mother, Queen Marie, who is the daughter of Queen Victoria's second son, Albert.

DUNCOMBE.

Senator Heflin does not hail from Duncombe county, N. C., where or whence the first name for "bunk" originated, but a recent utterance of his is ideally representative of what that famed county has stood for during three generations of American politics. In his speech in the upper chamber objecting with impassioned eloquence to President Coolidge's courageous abolition of the custom of shaking hands with visiting democracy in long line, the senator from Alabama said:

American citizens who come here, many of them once in a lifetime, visiting their capital, want the privilege of shaking hands with their president and looking him squarely in the face and saying a word in behalf of clean government as they pass along. This is to be denied them now. It is quite an event in lives of many boys and girls. I have read stories since I was a boy where some woman has pointed with pride to the fact that when a schoolgirl she visited the capital of the nation and shook hands with the president, and has told it to her children, and the story has come down the line to the grandchildren, but this privilege is to be enjoyed no more. Boys could tell their children and their children's children how it was to go in the White House and be ushered into the presence of a real, virile, live, robust president and shake his vigorous hand and have him say a word to them as they passed, but it will not be any more.

No more—unless some other president should restore a time-eating and physically exhausting performance mistakenly supposed to be a vote winner.

Senator Heflin is true to time-honored tradition, but is he correct in his understanding of the psychological effects of the custom? The watchful and reflecting observer can hardly fail to be convinced that the experience is disillusioning and tends toward the opposite of the expected results. It is the inevitably perfunctory character of the exercise that knifes sentiment and smashes illusion. When the ardent youngster, approaching by long, slow stages, finally faces the vacant glance and feels the hurried hand-clasp of the wearied Executive, only to see both diverted swiftly to the next candidate for the doubtful honor in the long line, he is chilled and made to feel that he is participating in a function with form but no substance. Both he and the sentimental older beside him vaguely realize that they failed to get what they came for, and neither may be wise enough to reflect that the pretense of something that is not unavoidable because of the magnitude of the task and the limitations upon the powers of an executive who is only human. They may like to tell of it afterward, but at the same time cannot realize that they have lost something that might have been kept intact if they had not joined in forcing the president to look into a multitude of faces without seeing one of them.

That Body of Yours

THAT SPRING FEELING.

Some years ago I met a lady who said she had not varied a pound in weight in twenty years.

This was an absolute fact, but certainly a rare condition.

Most people will put on from three to seven pounds during the cold weather and gradually lose it during the warm days of summer.

Now this putting on of extra weight during the winter is a good sign. It shows that your tissues recognize the need of a little extra food and so absorb the ultra nourishment.

Your appetite is a bit keener also, due to the snap in the air, and the ordinary natural call for more fuel to keep your body warm in the cool weather.

All this is very familiar to you, but I am writing it with just one purpose in mind.

During the winter you needed the extra food.

If you have been wise or thoughtful you have exercised judgment and feel all the stronger therefore.

If you have eaten the extra quantity of food, and have taken no exercise, when the days of spring arrive what happens?

You have put on an excess of weight and not having taken the exercise your digestive apparatus, liver and intestines are sluggish.

You feel heavy, wooden, depressed.

You feel that you have that lazy spring fever that is so common.

The mother, as you know, gives strong purgatives to the children in the spring. Now there are just two things for you to do.

First, remember that in the spring there is not the need for so much food as in the winter, so immediately you cut down on your food intake.

Second, there is bound to be a little more fat on you than you need, a little more waste in and about the body. You must get it off.

Good brisk walks in the outdoors will help to burn up the waste for you. As you walk you breathe more deeply and rapidly, and call for more and more oxygen which when it enters the body, actually burns up the excess tissue you are carrying.

So when the spring days come don't sit around and let yourself get the spring fever.

Get busy with yourself.

CLINTON AVENUE QUINSET RECEIVES FIRST DEFEAT

In the presence of a crowd numbering around 200, the Clinton Avenue M. E. team went down to defeat at the hands of the Presbyterian quintet by the score of 15-5. Whiston, Stock and Longyear did the big work for the Presbyterians, while it may be said that every man on the Clinton Avenue team put up a good fight. The Presbyterians had the edge on shooting fouls, making good nine out of thirteen. Clinton Avenue made one out of five fouls. The Clinton Avenue team would like another game with this team.

Tonight at eight o'clock the Clinton Avenue team will meet the Fair Street Reformed Seniors. Another large crowd is expected.

Gave Prizes To Dancers.

The People's Store on Wall street donated, through their manager, Will Swart, the handsome prizes given at the Knott Brothers' dance in their assembly hall on the second floor of the Clermont building, corner of Wall and John streets, on Thursday evening. The prize for the lady was a string of imported beads won by Mrs. Baynon Fitzgerald and for the gentlemen a handsome tie and belt won by Eddie Smith, her partner. They were awarded the prizes by the judges in the prize waltz at 12 o'clock. Judges were Mrs. James Ray, J. Ray, and Raymond Crispell. This was one of the nicest social affairs of the season given by the elite of colored society. The next one is to be Wednesday evening, April 30, in the same hall.

Allen and McClure to Broadcast.

The many music-loving people who so greatly enjoyed the concert recently given by Charles Baldwin Allen and J. Clarendon McClure at the Y. W. C. A., will be interested to know that the two men will broadcast on Tuesday evening, April 23, at 7:50 and at 9:10, from WEAF, New York city. TODAY WE CELEBRATE

KEROSENE.

The first to introduce the use of coal oil or "kerosene" in the United States and Canada was Dr. Abraham Gesner, a distinguished Canadian geologist, who died in Halifax, N. S., sixty years ago today. Dr. Gesner, after long experimenting, discovered how to produce oil that could be used in lamps for illuminating purposes from bituminous shale and cannel coal. He gave the name of "kerosene" to his product, but it was popularly called "coal oil." Following the discovery of petroleum in large quantities in Pennsylvania in 1859, and later in many other sections of North America, kerosene became the principal product of the distillation of the crude oil. Dr. Gesner, the discoverer of kerosene, was born in Cornwallis, N. S., in 1797, and was educated for the profession of medicine. Later he became interested in geological researches, and in 1858 he was appointed to examine the geological resources of the lower provinces of British North America. Like most inventors, he derived little financial benefit from his discovery, which was destined to be the foundation of scores of immense fortunes.

Another Play at Y. W. C. A.

What's the Matter With Smith Today?

It's a wonderful feeling to be able to tackle your work every day with snap and vigor. Endurance is the true test of a man. You go forward or backward according to your health. Ill health causes more failures than any other one thing.

Get the spirit of youth! Acquire the appearance of success by radiating the magnetism of good health. Gain strength to meet your daily tasks. Build up your nerve vigor. Put iron into your blood. Be a success, not a failure.

If you are run-down, tire easily, lack endurance, if you are weak, thin, anaemic, if you want to put firm, stay-there flesh on your bones, try taking one of BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS four times a day with your meals. No doubt many of those around you who are strong, vigorous and successful, owe their appearance to this very thing. Banish "bad" days. Make every day count. Feel good all the time.

The new scientific method of presenting the body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil in tablet form makes it possible for thousands to get the benefit of this great tonic who never before have been able to take it because of its nauseous fishy taste. Now all this has been changed and Cod Liver Oil has been combined with iron and other health building ingredients to form the quickest weight builder and strengthener known in all medicines. Just one concentrated tablet of BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON taken four times a day with meal will bring amazing increases in your bodily vigor and marked changes for the better in your appearance. These improvements will be noticeable in a very short time—in most cases within a few days. This condition of better health and greater strength will not leave you—it will be permanent and lasting as you continue this wonderful vitamin treatment.

Money Back Guarantee

You are not asked to risk a single cent to find out if BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS will give you the buoyant, lively spirit of youth, a firm elastic step, bright eyes, rosy cheeks, the strength and endurance and the hearty appetite of the rejuvenated mind and body. All you have to do is to take BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS according to the simple directions for 15 days. If, at the end of that time, you don't feel like a new person, your druggist is authorized to refund the purchase price at once, without question or red tape, on your simple request.

Paltz Works on Pageant Problem

People Exercise Same Energy and Ingenuity That Characterized Ancestors Nearly Three Centuries Ago.

From now until Tuesday, June 3, life in New Paltz is nothing but one committee meeting after another. A multiplicity of details are constantly arising. As the pageant idea unfolds, more and more of the people of the village are stepping forward to lift and carry their fair portion of this really enormous undertaking. For the scale of the pageant, compared with the size of this little Ulster county village, makes it seem a Herculean task. But it is really not that. The spirit of cooperation is so strong, the enthusiasm of both the school and the village so compelling, the intelligent organization of every detail into a carefully wrought plan is so complete that the burden placed on the shoulders of any one person will not be excessive. Any one person will not be excessive. Twice during the past week the finance division of the Pageant Committee met. The policy and plan for the sale of the certificates of guarantee has been formulated. This committee has a two-fold duty. They want everyone in New Paltz and its environs to have an opportunity to subscribe; and they do not want anyone to be harassed by a constant stream of solicitors. With this end in view the finance division has been divided into four teams of which Philip H. DuBois, Mrs. Don Hasbrouck, Mrs. Louis H. DuBois and Harvey G. Gregory are the chairmen.

A list of the names of every family in New Paltz has been compiled and each team of solicitors has its allotted quota of names. They plan to call on each family once. If the reaction is satisfactory, as of course it will be, they will not be bothered further. If enthusiasm appears to be below normal, the case will be diagnosed, and the entire finance division will rally around. The village has taken hold of the pageant idea wholeheartedly that only in rare individual cases does the finance division expect that a mass meeting to arouse interest will be necessary.

At a meeting held Monday evening the Hon. Frank J. LeFevre was chosen treasurer of the Pageant at New Paltz. Another important matter brought up for discussion was the question of admission to see the pageant. Various vague rumors have been abroad in the past few days but nothing has been definitely decided as yet. If an admission fee is charged, it reserved seats are sold. If there be any expense to those who view the pageant, everyone may feel sure that the charges will not be exorbitant but a reasonable sum well within the reach of everyone. This is an important matter. It is one which the committee does well to consider carefully. The Freeman hopes to be able to give out full information on this in the near future.

The pageant itself, the writing of which is in the capable hands of a committee headed by Miss Elizabeth LeFevre and A. B. Bennett, has grown until it is now nearly completed. Minor changes no doubt will have to be made, but the main events and their sequence are settled. At a meeting Monday Miss LeFevre read and explained the pageant to a group gathered to discuss it with her and Mr. Bennett. New Paltz is fortunate in having someone of her ability and imagination, thoroughly conversant in a scholarly fashion with the early history of the valley and sufficiently possessed of the dramatic instinct to write the historic story for pageant day in June.

Every day sees a new and essential committee begin to function. The costume of the pageant calls for ingenuity and artistic cleverness; for a knowledge of the fashions of 1670; and above all for the willingness to give time and effort without stint. When pageant day in June comes, on the meadow that borders the Wallkill will appear in successive pictures colorful groups of British officers and men; Indian braves and squaws; French, Dutch and English settlers; scouts and sailors; local and Colonial dignitaries; and the twelve men and their families. The proper dress for each of these is the problem of the costume committee, which is headed by Miss Olds and Mrs. J. G. Gregory. Other names on the committee to which there will be more added are: Mrs. Stahl, Mrs. van den Burg, Mrs. Codrington, Mrs. Frank LeFevre, Mrs. A. P. LeFevre, Mrs. Louis D. LeFevre, Miss MacFarlane, Miss Richards, Mrs. Robert Deyo, Mrs. George Wicks, Mrs. Bogart, Mrs. Perry Deyo and Miss Deane.

Mrs. Kellogg Guest of British Rulers.

Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, wife of the American Ambassador to Great Britain, was the week-end guest of King George and Queen Mary at Windsor Castle, on a personal, not official, visit.

Devious Journey Of $100,000

Empire Trust Company, the commission states, Searing & Company were allowed to overdraw their account to the extent of $74,548.24, and the sum of $100,000 was paid out to Searing & Company in cash.

The $100,000 in cash was delivered by one, George, a member of the firm of Searing & Company, to Edwin J. Welch, who was attorney for Searing & Company and who had charge of the organization of the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company. The $100,000 cash was taken by Welch to the Interborough Bank, then doing business in the borough of Manhattan, and was deposited in that bank to the credit of Welch, who immediately withdrew the identical bank notes so deposited upon a check or checks which he presented to the Interborough at the time of making the deposit.

The identical bank notes so returned to Welch, were thereupon in form paid by him to a committee of the board of directors of the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company, consisting of Albert S. Brown, who was bookkeeper of Searing & Company, N. Caswell Heine and George F. Fulton.

Then the identical bank notes, amounting to $100,000 were in form deposited to the credit of the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company with Searing & Company, who entered upon their books a credit of that amount in favor of the railroad company. The trip of the $100,000 in cash was completed when the identical bills or bank notes were delivered by or under the direction of George to the Empire Trust Company, and thereby the overdraft of Searing & Company's account with the Empire Trust Company was paid, and Searing & Company's balance with the Empire Trust Company was restored to the amount standing to their credit with the trust company before the withdrawal from the company of the $100,000.

The $20,000 required for the pretended payment of ten per cent of the capital stock of the Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company was also obtained from the Empire Trust Company by Searing & Company upon their check in like manner, and the pretended payment was conducted in a manner identical with that described in the Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad case.

On May 13, 1907, the two railroad companies mentioned were merged to form with a capital stock of $1,200,000, another pretended corporation, the Delaware & Eastern Railway Company, but the commission states that this company never had any existence whatever in law or in fact. However, on June 28, 1907, the board of railroad commissioners of New York state granted the new company permission to increase its capital stock from $1,200,000 to $5,000,000. The new company, however, never owned or constructed a steam railroad.

The Delaware & Eastern Railway Company did, however, as lessee, operate a steam railroad constructed by the Delaware & Eastern Railroad Company from Arkville to East Branch until February 26, 1910, when the United States circuit court appointed receivers for both the railroad and the railway companies bearing the Delaware & Eastern name. From that date, the railway company ceased to operate, as lessee or otherwise, any steam railroad. The commission finds that neither the so-called Schenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company, nor the so-called Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company, nor the so-called Delaware & Eastern Railway Company complied with the requirements of the laws of New York state that a railroad organized under New York laws shall within five years after its certificate is filed begin the construction of its road and expend thereon ten per cent of its capital, and shall finish its road and put it in operation within ten years from the filing of such certificate, and consequently the corporate existence of these so-called railroad companies has ceased and terminated. The commission also finds that neither of the three companies mentioned ever obtained any valid charters or franchises that could be sold, transferred or assigned.

The companies did not own any rights of way over lands acquired by the city of New York for the Gilboa reservoir, the commission finds, nor could they condemn or acquire by eminent domain real estate for such right of way, nor are they entitled to receive from the city of New York any substituted right of way. No real estate was ever acquired by either of the three railroad companies except five parcels for which the Delaware & Eastern Railway Company acquired deeds, three of which parcels were taken by the city of New York. Options were obtained on various lands by the Delaware & Eastern which have long since expired.

The commission in conclusion finds that whatever rights and franchises the so-called Delaware & Eastern at any time had or claimed to have, were abandoned, lost or forfeited, and that all of the claims of that company except for the real estate taken by the city of New York should be dismissed.

Clyde H. Proyer, who sought to recover damages from the city of New York for the stockholders of the Delaware & Eastern Railway Company, was represented throughout the proceedings by the late William McEl. Spect, the city of New York was represented by John P. O'Brien, corporation counsel, and William H. Grogan, special counsel.

Found Him Out

The movie magnate was laying down an ultimatum. His conversation was loud and to the point.

"Never let that sage-brush star make the rounds of the exhibitors again. And take his guns away from him whenever he leaves the lot."

"What's the matter, chief?" "He has no gunption whatever. In one town, and with a gang of small boys following him, mark you, he went into a shooting gallery and tried to shoot."

Kresge, multimillionaire owner of a chain of five and ten-cent stores. Mrs. Rosie Ninkovich, of Chicago, is suing for a divorce there, alleging her husband kidnapped her in Europe nine years ago, when she was only 13, and compelled her to live with him.

Hard Workers Live Long

The Life Extension Institute has compiled statistics which over a period of years show that hard work is no deterrent to old age. The findings are summed up as "the will to work is the will to live" and many interesting examples both in men and women are given, backing up the assertion.

Dr. Swinburne, Specialist
Gives Wonderful Relief To Many Patients After Failure of Local Doctors.

Mrs. Earl Howland of Andover, N. Y., writes as follows: Dr. Swinburne has saved me from the grave and I cannot praise him too highly. I was a total wreck from stomach trouble for seven years. Had tried a number of doctors but they could not help me. Could not eat very little, and would have sinking spells and weary dills. After taking three months' treatment of Dr. Swinburne I can say I am cured and feel like a new woman.

TO RESTORE A HEALTHY STOMACH WILL HELP MANY OTHER DISEASES.

In nine-tenths of the ailments there is some weakness of the stomach and poor assimilation of foods that has caused the more serious disturbances. If you have already developed other disease conditions such as headache, recurring vomiting, spells, gall stones, jaundice or the more distressing disorders of malnutrition, neuritis, neurasthenia, rheumatism or heart weakness, you should at once begin a course of treatment to build up digestive and assimilative functions and the results from such treatment is often astonishing.

Rheumatism Relieved by Treating the Stomach.

Mr. Henry Cole, a freeman, was so badly crippled from rheumatism that he had to give up work, and could only get around with the aid of crutches. He had treated with a number of doctors without obtaining any relief, until he became much discouraged and thought there was no hope for him.

His attention was called to a similar case where Dr. Swinburne had produced wonderful results in relieving rheumatic trouble by giving treatment to cure the stomach of the terrible acidity, and stop the accumulation of acid in the blood, and Mr. Cole decided to make one more effort to obtain relief. To his great astonishment and joy, he found after one month's treatment he had no further use for the crutches, and after three months he was entirely relieved and was enjoying perfect health.

If you are suffering from any chronic or obscure disease, you should call to see the doctor, for there will be no charge unless you want treatment.

Doctor's next visit to 163 Clinton Ave., Kingston, on Wednesday, April 30, from 9 a. m. to 12 m.; 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.; 6:30 to 8 p. m.

Noted Singers
At Ellenville

Ellenville, April 28.—A recital by Madame Edith de Lys and Ottone, under the auspices of the Ellenville Musical Club, was held at Hunt Memorial Hall Friday evening, April 25.

The artists are among those who are taking part in the spring festival in New York, which was arranged to promote American artists.

Madame de Lys, soprano, is a Bostonian by birth, who studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, and later with the great Jean de Reszke, and has sung in twelve countries in Europe as well as many American cities.

Mr. Ottone, basso, is from Baltimore, where he has had vocal training. He has sung in Italy, and on his return to America in 1914 he sang for the boys in camps and conducted community singing in and about New York.

He was selected by the National Federation of Music Clubs to create the bass role in the first performance of the $5,000 prize oratorio, "The Apocalypse," sung at the biennial convention in Iowa. Last season he was leading basso in the United States Grand Opera Company which gave most artistic performances in many middle western states.

That the club had the rare privilege of hearing such artists is due to the kindness of Mrs. Henry Horton, who persuaded the American artists' management to allow Madame de Lys and Mr. Ottone to give their recital here, prior to their appearance in Carnegie Hall.

Following is the program which was so beautifully rendered:

Friday evening was a full one at the open house at the Y. W. C. A. In addition to the presentation of "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," by the same clever cast that gave it before in a manner that delighted the gathering of girls, there was another special feature. Through Miss Willa Van Vleet, chairman of the basketball committee of the Y. W. C. A., Charles A. Warren, in recognition of the assistance recently given by the Y. W. C. A. girls in the matter of the Olympic games fund, presented the Y. W. C. A. with a silver cup to be given to the winning basketball team of the Y. W. C. A. This gift was received with great enthusiasm, inasmuch as the basketball teams are only recently organized and have not had much practice. It has been thought wise to wait until next season to award the cup, and at that time the Y. W. C. A. team winning the most games will receive the cup.

KINGSTON COAL COMPANY

Post Is Held For Grand Jury

The hearing of Samuel M. Post of Sauceries, charged with grand larceny in the first degree on the complaint of the Boylston Coal Co., Inc., was held before the police justice at 11 o'clock, Friday afternoon.

The manager of the Boylston Coal Co., Inc., testified to having charged to the defendant over $14,000 worth of coal and also claimed what the defendant had paid for all of the coal delivered except about $5,000 worth. He also testified that at a conference at a hotel in Kingston, in the presence of various witnesses, the defendant had admitted that he had used some of the money belonging to the Boylston Coal Co., Inc. On cross examination, however, by Grant M. Brimner, attorney for defendant, the witness was rather indefinite as to the amount of coal shipped to the defendant except during a certain period of time. Another witness, Mr. Warren, field manager for the Boylston Coal Co., Inc., testified that he was present at the conference.

Mr. Brimner moved for the discharge of the defendant, requesting the court to exercise his knowledge of the law and discharge the defendant for the reason that there had not been sufficient proof established to detain the defendant any longer. The court, however, denied the motion. The defendant then voluntarily waived examination to go to the grand jury and bail was fixed in the sum of $2,500, which the defendant furnished.

George F. Kaufman was attorney for the complainant company, which brought the proceeding through a Mr. Levy.

Doctors Advise Against Use of Too Much Salt

And now the doctors are telling us not to pickle our insides with salt. They say that civilization is suffering from too much sodium chloride in its soup. Observation has given rise to the medical idea that a tendency to malignancy in certain diseases is traceable to excessive seasoning in the food.

Patients who have made an honest to goodness effort to cut salt out of their diet report that although the lack of it seems grievous for a few days, things begin to taste better afterward, and agreeable flavors assert themselves which were absent in the more artificial food when lavishly seasoned.

Moreover it is set forth that by cutting out salt the fat men can reduce his weight without the anguish of a daily fast. The idea seems to be that the excessive seasoning of food tickles the palate and makes us eat more than we need. Anyone who embarks on a saltless dinner will quickly acknowledge that on such a regimen he would have no trouble in training down to his fighting weight.

The body needs a certain amount of salt in its business, of course, but some of the anti-salt propagandists assure us that natural foods like meat and vegetables contain sufficient salt for their contribution to the body's saline needs. If vegetables are boiled without seasoning until the water has almost evaporated, they will be found surprisingly salty.

Man became a salt eater when he ceased to be a nomad and became an agriculturist. In other words, when he gave up his primitive diet of meat and milk and began to fool with bread, biscuits, buckwheat cakes and breakfast foods. Also the New England boiled dinner helped to drive him to the salt shaker. But neither roasted nor raw meat calls for salt, and none is used by those earnest epicures, the cannibals of the Congo.—New York Sun and Globe.

Mirror Once Thought Magic

The primitive man looking at his own reflection in a still pool beheld a phenomenon he could not explain. He saw something which was not himself, but which must be so closely related to himself that there was no joke in it.

What is known as sympathetic magic always regarded as a close connection existing between a person and his "counterfeit presentment." We know better now, but who is there who can see a looking glass accidentally broken without experiencing a secret feeling of uneasiness?

The smashing of the mirror destroys the reflected image—his counterfeited self or a surface which has borne it, as it has also borne the images of other members of his family. Therefore, he himself, or some member of his family, whispers the lingering voice of disquiet, forgotten, but inherited belief in sympathetic magic, is in danger. All in which accounts for the superstition that if you break a looking glass there will be a death in the family within the year.—London Mirror.

He Did

Being shy and self-conscious, he was lacking in histrionic ability. However, at an amateur theatrical he was persuaded to play understudy. The first night taking the part of a hungry tramp who had only a few words to speak.

It was in the dead of winter. He knocked at the door of a lonely cabin in the woods. A woman's head protruded from the window.

She—What do you want?

He (trembling more with fright than the cold)—Work, kind lady.

She—Go away, I have nothing for you.

He (pointing to the ground)—At least—at least—let me move the snow!

WRITER TELLS GOOD POINTS OF ARMY ANT.

Indians Find Insects Good Louse Exterminators.

Everybody has heard a lot of the horrible tales about the "army" or "driver" ants; how they sweep across the country in vast glistering sheets several hundred yards wide and devour every live thing in their path, pulling down and swarming over wild beasts and reptiles alike, each taking a mouthful and passing on; how more than one brutal criminal—in fiction—has finally met his just deserts amidst gruesome details at their hands, or rather jaws.

To be sure, all of it. As a matter of fact the army ants—there are several species—are not bad fellows at all, writes Gordon MacCraigh in Adventure. I venture to assert that nobody in all Amazonas has ever seen a column of them more than a foot in width. I have seen dozens of their trails as wide as eight inches, but never more.

It is true they run to three-quarters of an inch in length and that they can bite a piece of flesh out with each nip, as well as sting like a hornet; but no beast that is able to get up and hop need ever be eaten up by a column of army ants.

No, bugs are what the army ant is out for. Worms, beetles, fat caterpillars, sweet things—and, of course, criminals bound to trees. It is common for an Indian, meeting a column, to lay a honey trail to his hut, gather up his brats and his string of baccalao and clear out for the afternoon. The ants come in thickly and deliriously that hut with a thoroughness which would be a shining example to any firm of bug exterminators at $10 a room; and with sundown they return peacefully home. Mr. Injun enters and spends his first peaceful night in months.

Sometimes they happen along without any honey trail. I have camped in a deserted hut to take a siesta while the afternoon sun passed over, and have been awakened by the yell of "Carralho! Formigas malhecas!" and have realized the next second that the poignant words meant malignant ants.

Upon that occasion I waited not upon the order of my going, but just went with speed and sat me down in deep water—and began to understand then why that perfectly good hut had been deserted. With sundown the poems ventured back to collect our gear.

But it was cannon grub that evening; for the formigas had eaten up a big pot of dinner.

But at that there are worse ants in Amazonas than the army ant.

Novelists Best Tenants

"We like to have tenants who receive as few callers as possible," said the manager of a big office building, according to Fred Kelly, writing in the Nation's Business. "Those who have a stream of people coming all day long help to congest the elevator service."

"On this basis a high-priced surgeon is more desirable than a dealer in cheap building lots, for fewer people are able to consult the surgeon than might wish to talk about the lots. The ideal tenant, though, would be a novelist. We once had one. He wanted a quiet place to work and didn't let any of his friends know where he was. His name was not in the building directory and he didn't even receive mail there. I don't believe he had a single caller the eleven months he was with us. I'd like to manage a building for hard-working novelists."

A Distant Relative

At the wedding anniversary of a railway magnate, one of the guests, noticing a somewhat lonely-looking and rather shabbily-dressed man in a corner of the room, walked over to him.

"I was introduced to you," he said, "but I did not catch your name."

"My name," replied the other, "is Swaddlesford."

"Oh, then you are a relative of our host?"

"Yes," rejoined the "poor relation." "I am his cousin, one hundred thousand sounds removed."

She Was One of Them

"Yes," said Borge, unthinkingly. "I can remember events of long ago as if they happened but yesterday. When I think of my boyhood days, of my escapades at school, of many of my youthful and later actions, and how I got married—I can't help smiling and thinking how many foolish things I've done."

And Borge wondered why his wife treated him so coolly after the visitors had gone.

Kept Them Awake

"Ain't got no Shakespearean actors now like what we had in the old days," declared Hank Hayfoot, a prominent member of the grocery league.

"This is the reproposed school," retorted the city fellow who happened to be present. "You're thinking about the old-style robust school. All those fellows could do was to rant around and bellow."

"Well, they kept us awake, anyhow."

Hudson and Essex In New Quarters

Temporary Salesrooms Located at Pine Street Service Station Until New Salesrooms are Completed—New Salesrooms to be on Clinton Avenue at Main Street.

Peter A. Black, agent for Hudson and Essex motor cars, who for the past nine years has occupied quarters at 12 Main street, has moved his sales rooms to 167 Pine street, just off St. James street, where he will have temporary sales headquarters in his service station pending the completion of new sales rooms on Clinton avenue and Main street. Hudson and Essex sales will be conducted from the permanent service station on Pine street until the new building is completed and during that time both sales and service will be reached by phoning 1597.

Mr. Black has maintained a permanent service station for Hudson and Essex cars at the Pine street station and this will continue as a service station after the completion of the new show rooms, which will be for sales purposes only.

The new show rooms when completed will be the finest in the city, having a frontage on Main street of 21 feet and some 50 feet on Clinton avenue. There will be 24 feet of show window on Main street and 50 feet on Clinton avenue, giving ample window space to display the Hudson and Essex line. The entrance to the office will be at the corner of Main street and Clinton avenue, with a larger entrance for cars on Clinton avenue. The corner now occupied by the Women's Exchange will be entirely remodelled to correspond with the new building, which is being erected on the Clinton avenue frontage.

As soon as the building is completed Mr. Black will move his sales and show rooms to the new location. The service station on Pine street will be maintained permanently.

Garages in the Zoning Scheme

Chairman Edinger Receives So Many Inquiries Relative Thereto, He Answers Them With Text of Ordinance.

Editor, The Freeman:

So much interest is evinced by citizens generally and in order to reach the public en masse, I would consider it a favor if you would publish the two clauses on public and private garages which I have copied from the tentative ordinance and which seem to be of so much general interest, judging from the number of inquiries on that particular subject. The public should bear in mind, however, that the ordinance is only a tentative one and even after its final adoption in no case is it retroactive.

Yours truly,

U. G. EDINGER,
Chairman Common Council
Zoning Committee.

The clauses mentioned are as follows:

Section 21. C. Private garages. As necessary to a dwelling house in a dwelling house or apartment house district, a private garage shall not provide storage for more than two motor vehicles except that storage for one motor vehicle for each 2,000 square feet of the area of the lot shall be permitted. As necessary to an apartment house in an apartment house district, a private garage shall not provide storage for more than one motor vehicle for each family for which such apartment house is arranged or designed and for not more than a total of 10 motor vehicles in any case. A private garage, in a dwelling house or apartment house district, shall not be erected nearer a street line than 20 feet except as an integral part of the main building or in a terrace or retaining wall. If built in a terrace or retaining wall, such garage shall not project in front of the terrace or retaining wall and shall not extend above the top of the terrace or retaining wall more than three (3) feet, and in no case above the level of the ground floor of a building on an adjacent lot.

Section 21. D. Public garages. No public garage for more than four (4) motor vehicles and no garage repair shop or motor vehicle repair shop shall have an entrance, or exit for motor vehicles within 50 feet of a dwelling house or apartment house district or within 200 feet of the entrance or exit of a public or private school, playground, public library, church, hospital, orphanage or children's home existing at the time of the passage of this ordinance. Except in an industrial district, all entrances and exits of a public garage for more than four motor vehicles shall have an unobstructed width of not less than 12 feet for a distance of not less than five feet from the street line. A public garage, a garage repair shop or a motor vehicle repair shop shall not have an opening in a wall or roof within 15 feet of adjacent property that is located in a residence district.

Bean Boards

Bean boards is a new article which one of the mills in Dalen, China, recently started to manufacture. It is used for feeding animals and is chiefly exported to America. The boards are of rectangular shape, measuring 28 by 12 inches, with a thickness of eight-tenths of an inch. By submitting them to higher pressure than is applied in the case of beancake, they contain less moisture, rendering them less liable to become moldy in transit. The venture is still in the experimental stage, and its future is looked forward to with interest.—Scientific American.

The New Hotel as a Social Center!

The social life of Kingston will take on a new significance with the building of this new modern hotel; such events as are now depicted as occurring only in other and larger cities may then be carried to our daily life, for the coming of this new modern hotel gives us a "Social Center" as fine as any in our State. In the parlors, dining rooms, grill and lobby there will be facilities for the formal and informal affairs of a social or business nature. The modern hotel lobby which is a city's reception hall, will be furnished in such a way that Kingston's reception hall will be the pride of our city.

It is safe to picture Kingston tomorrow with such social advantages as are above described, for in this new modern hotel special social and convention rooms will be planned. These rooms will be appropriate not only for the usual, but the special social life, so that Kingston may entertain in proper form the guest, however distinguished—and Kingston has an increasingly large number of such guests each year. We need just such a hotel.

Trustees of Church Insure Pastor's Life

A new idea in church building finance made its appearance in Rochester, N. Y., recently when the trustees of the Baptist temple, who are putting up a combined church and office building in that city, insured the life and health of their pastor, the Rev. Clinton Wunder, for $100,000 for the benefit of the church, the premium to be paid out of the building fund.

Success of the undertaking depends so much upon the Rev. Wunder's energy, initiative and devotion, the trustees explained, that his death or disability would be an irreparable blow to it, and the insurance is taken out to protect the plan so far as money can do it.

The policy calls for fifteen payments. In the event of the pastor's total disability the church will receive $3,000 a year; in case of the death it will receive the full amount of $100,000.

At the expiration of twelve years, if the church desires to surrender the policy, it will have $50,000 in cash to apply on the payment of its second mortgage bonds, which become due at that time. The premium will amount to approximately $4,000 a year.

Birds May Share Fate of Antelope and Bison

America's effort to preserve her game bird supply has proved a complete failure, according to T. Gilbert Pearson, president of National Association of Audubon Societies. He says that many species of birds are declining so rapidly that they are as sure to pass as have the antelope and bison.

"Some time ago," said Mr. Pearson, "Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, head of the American Museum of Natural History, issued a widely quoted statement that the animal kingdom is tottering. He said that nothing in the history of creation has paralleled the ravages of the fur and hide trade, which threatens the entire vertebrate kingdom, and he added that final cause of the close of the age of mammals can only be arrested through the creation of sound sentiment and education of the women and children. "In the same manner the bird kingdom is tottering and will fall unless the National Association of Audubon Societies keeps up its work of arresting the destruction of birds."

King's Son a Playwright

Sons of royalty cannot openly engage in commerce, it seems, but they do get a change at the liberal arts, in which there are profits. Prince Wilhelm, second son of the king of Sweden, has just completed and had accepted for production a play he has written. Its presentation was first made in Stockholm.

National Forests Are Managed With Wisdom

At the present time the national forests are harvesting about 2 per cent of the lumber used in this country. Yet they are producing roughly 10 per cent of the annual effective timber growth. This is merely another way of saying that on the national forests timber is being grown more rapidly than it is being harvested, while in practically all other forest areas it is being cut very much faster than it is being produced, says Frank A. Waugh in the North American Review.

That portion of the forest timber which is being harvested is sold on the stump to contractors, who cut it under careful regulations, and manufacture it into lumber and other commodities. Sales are made to the highest bidders and the money received is deposited in the United States treasury. These sales now produce a revenue of about $2,000,000 a year.

This does not seem a very large amount when compared with the enormous sums paid for lumber by ultimate consumers, but in this field more than in most others the cost of manufacture, transportation and selling are many times as great as the initial cost of production, and that even though it may take one hundred years to grow a tree and only a day to cut it down. For the sake, therefore, of shifting, this comparison to more familiar grounds, we may say that the present timber cut of the national forests averages about $20,000,000 in its final markets.

The North Star

Polaris, or the North star, is to navigators north of the equator the most important of all stars. It cannot be seen south of the equator. It is the second magnitude star at the end of the handle of the "little dipper." It is readily found by aid of the pointers of the "big dipper," which are the two stars in the bowl of the dipper located farthest from the handle. A line drawn through these stars and extended a distance equal to about five times the distance between them brings us to Polaris.

Negroes Held After Cutting

William Brock and Nellie Wood, negroes, are in the Ulster county jail being held for arraignment tonight before Justice of the Peace Walter Webber in the town of Ulster on a charge of assault. They come from East Kingston, where Brock works on a brickyard. Saturday evening the man and the woman got into an argument and Brock received some bad cuts on his arm with a knife. She ran away and the man was brought to this city where his cuts were attended to at the Kingston Hospital. On Sunday the woman was located and she and Brock brought to jail by state troopers. The woman was in jail before, when she gave her name as Ella May Brock.

Great Oil Shale Bed Is Found in England

What is claimed to be one of the greatest and richest oil-bearing shale beds ever discovered has been found in West Somerset, according to the Evening Star, says a London dispatch to the New York Times.

The bed, covering a large area, is said to have been a mining surface of 600 to 700 feet, which the experts here say is unprecedented. The beds, it is declared, contain the highest qualities of oils, compared only with the hitherto an unparalleled example of oil-shale wealth.

The newspaper quotes Larrette Larkin, an English engineer, as reporting that it was safe to base the commercial production of the beds at 9,000,000,000 tons of oil shale, with an oil content of more than 1,000,000,000 tons, valued at £3,000,000,000. He estimated the shale could be quarried for three shillings per ton.

It also quotes Dr. W. Forbes Leslie, geologist, as saying the beds were a source of power from which we could draw for our industries without spending money on foreign oil. The magnitude of this discovery means that we can supply all our needs for cheap power, light and heat for centuries. He claims the beds will make England independent of foreign supplies in time of war.

Blast Was Silent One

The street was crowded with traffic; the sidewalks filled with children returning from school; and a contracting company was busy digging foundations for a new apartment house, says the New York Sun and Globe. Suddenly the drills ceased their noisy work. Laborers and diggers dispersed at a shouted command. Six with red flags shoed away pedestrians, stopped impatient traffic with high pitched commands and then took up posts of warning. A blast was about to be set off.

Silence settled over the place and interest and excitement ran high. It was going to be a big blast. The operator—whose duty it was to fire the charge—approached the detonator and waited the signal of the foreman. It came—a sharp command in Italian. The operator depressed the detonator. Every one waited, some with fingers to their ears. But nothing happened. Again he tried. There was no explosion. A titter among the crowd of watchers was followed by shouts of laughter as examination of the wires leading from the detonator to the charge of dynamite showed they had not been attached.

Franklin's Chair Travels

Benjamin Franklin's library chair—possibly the one in which he sat and pondered before he conducted his famous kite and key experiment by which he demonstrated that lightning was a manifestation of electricity—made its first journey in years recently. It was loaded into an electric truck and was brought down from the library building of Columbia University, New York city, to the Hotel Astor. Here, it was used by the toastmaster at the annual dinner of the International Benjamin Franklin society, and after the dinner, while New York was beginning to consider going to bed, the same electric truck carried the chair safely back to Columbia, where a waiting watchman returned the chair to its accustomed place—the meeting room of the board of trustees.

The iron pots of Gondricourt

JUST after daybreak a traveler along the narrow byways of a small French village can see the housewife beginning her day. Through the open doorway her fireplace glows like a forge. A heavy iron pot, which she has filled with water from the town pump, is lifted and swung upon the crane. At the other end of the village, perhaps, runs the little stream where she washes her family's clothes upon the rocks.

Throughout the village life of much of Europe, such pictures are multiplied by thousands. Quaint, to be sure, but what grinding and incessant toil these primitive household arrangements mean!

In contrast to this, even to the remote districts of America boast comfort unknown to the rural life of other countries. Conveniences are found that could not be duplicated in any save the wealthiest city homes of foreign nations.

Adequate heating systems, the farm lighting plant, the washing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the telephone, and numberless labor-saving devices have lifted modern life in America to unprecedented levels of comfort and ease.

To a large measure this has been due to advertising. Advertising has familiarized all of us with new inventions. Advertising has made possible the wide distribution of new products. By increasing sales, advertising has reduced the price of modern utilities to the reach of the modest purse.

By reading advertisements we keep

Nile River Short of Water

The river Nile is lower than any previous record of modern times, causing a curtailment in water for irrigation of the Egyptian crop.

Two Kinds of Women

An optimist is a man who believes that all women are angels and a pessimist is a man who believes they are the kind of angels with asbestos wings.

Popular Praise.

Money rewards, no matter how large, do not seem to get public duties half so well performed as popular praise.

Gloves Kissed by Kings

An American woman of some prominence, who is traveling in Europe, has started collecting gloves which have been kissed by kings. She herself has been presented on several occasions to kings who have placed the royal and courtly kiss on her gloved fingers. From others who have had similar experiences she will "beg, buy or borrow" the gloves for her collection.

Where Credit Belongs

An enthusiast thinks he should have all the credit for a successful idea, though the practical plodder may be responsible for its success.

Hurt as Ford Leaves Road

Harry Van Steenburgh restaurant keeper at 119 North Front street, received a deep cut in his head, a cut on his arm and his face damaged when thrown out of a Ford near Ashokan, Sunday afternoon. He was riding with Harold Harrison who lost control of the car which ran to one side of the highway and struck a concrete coping on a culvert. The impact of the Ford moved the heavy coping some distance and Van Steenburgh was hurled out to the ground. At first it was thought he was fatally injured, and Miss Maude Murdock living in the vicinity, who is a registered nurse, gave first aid and Dr. J. W. Dumond of Olive Bridge, attended to the man's injuries. Mr. Van Steenburgh was brought to his home in this city. The front of the Ford was crushed in, fenders bent and wheels broken.

Saving the Salmon

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE WORKING TO CONSERVE SALMON FISHERIES
A typical Alaskan Salmon Hatchery

One of the favorite table dishes and standbys of the American housewife—canned salmon—is threatened. This revelation was made at a recent hearing before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries of Congress on legislation proposing to conserve the great salmon runs of Alaskan waters.

The menace to this important element of the average American family's food supply is due to the inadequate regulation of salmon fishing.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, whose department embraces the Federal Bureau of Fisheries, is sponsoring the legislation now before Congress to safeguard the Alaska salmon for this and future generations.

"We need constructive legislation of the whole fisheries of Alaska," Mr. Hoover told Congress, "or another of our national heritages will be destroyed."

This warning was repeated by Henry O. Malley, United States Commissioner of Fisheries, and others who have studied the problem.

"It is not necessary," testified Commissioner O'Malley, "to present an extended array of figures to demonstrate that the salmon runs of Alaska have already suffered severe impairment. All of those who have entered the controversy concerning the wise and efficient method of administering the salmon fisheries of Alaska, are a unit in contending that depletion has already occurred and that utter destruction of the industry will follow if remedial measures are not promptly taken. The salmon packers of Alaska have joined the ranks of those who agree that immediate action is imperative."

The existing fishery laws of Alaska are declared to be hopelessly inadequate. Until they are amended to meet current conditions, conservation must be secured as much as possible through other methods of governmental administration available to those responsible for the maintenance of the supply of salmon.

Handling the situation by the reservation policy is said to be the only effective method of procedure that has been suggested. The primary thought in establishing fishery reservations in Alaska, has been to protect and maintain the existing situation and to bring about such improvement as may be possible. In the absence of effective restrictions on the quantity of salmon that may be taken, it is feared a large number of new canneries might be constructed and new fishing enterprises undertaken. The result would be not only immediate overfishing, it is said, but also the establishment of claims for preferment and rights which would hamper future legislation.

Secretary Hoover advocates the enactment of a law that will give government officials the power to absolutely control the salmon fishery by limiting the catch if necessary to insure a sufficient number of fish escaping to the spawning areas each year. Such legislation, it is asserted, will not only assure the preservation of a great industry which gives employment to thousands of men.

Congress has been wrestling with the Alaskan fisheries problem for many years without having agreed upon a definite satisfactory program. The situation became so acute that Secretary Hoover accompanied the late President Harding to Alaska last summer to make a personal study of the question. It was as a result of his investigation that a broad policy of conservation is now being urged upon Congress.

The Tragedy of Alaska
Lack of restrictions some years ago, it is asserted, depleted almost to the point of exhaustion the salmon in Puget Sound and Columbia River. The tragedy of these two waterways, averted in the nick of time by the combined action of the states of Oregon and Washington, will be the tragedy of Alaska, according to government officials, unless steps are immediately taken to conserve the salmon supply in Alaska.

Alaska salmon became an important part of the food supply of the United States in 1878, at which time canning operations began in the territory. Some idea of the extent to which the industry has grown may be gained when it is realized that in 1918, when the peak year was reached, 138 canneries packed over 6,000,000 cases.

The existing fishery laws of Alaska are declared to be hopelessly inadequate. Until they are amended to meet current conditions, conservation must be secured as much as possible through other methods of governmental administration

Colonials Win From Peekskill

Score 12-2—Game Slow and Uninteresting—Culliton Starts Season Well.

The Colonials smashed two pitchers for fourteen solid hits and twelve runs while the batters of the Peekskill A. C. found but two tallies as the results of their efforts against the combined offerings of Culliton, Contant and Corregan. There's the story of one of the slowest and most uninteresting games ever played at the Fair Ground Park.

The Colonials showed yesterday that they are going to give their pitchers something to work on this season. They started right in the first inning to pile up a lead and didn't stop scoring until the eighth. Matty Deegan and Tubby Raskin, added also by Dewey and Shaffer, led the attack against McAuliffe and Wolfe. Deegan had a perfect day at the bat until he popped a high fly in back of third for his last time at the plate. Included in his four hits was a slashing triple to left field. Dewey slapped the ball over the left field barrier in the first inning for the circuit. The fans were puzzled when they saw the pellet rolling on the field before Nelse had reached first. It hit a rock and bounded back onto the playing field. Shaffer and Raskin also turned in extra blows.

Bud Culliton was on the mound at the start of the festivities and for four innings the Fordhamite pitched no hit ball. He allowed three hits and two runs in the fifth. Pat Contant of the underhand delivery relieved Bud in the seventh and though he was touched up for three hits he kept the Brooklynites away from the plate. Bob Corregan, last year with the High School nine, worked in the ninth inning and came through in fine style. He had two strikeouts to his credit, one of them against the much-touted "Red" Fogarty, and allowed but one man to reach first. Manager Schrick showed the fans his team is composed of versatile players. Matty Deegan started at short but when Contant went in the box, Matty donned Jack Robins' paraphernalia and caught Pat's underhand shoots. Matty showed up well as a catcher but had a terrible time in keeping those shinguards in place. Swat Russell got into the pastime in the seventh and though he didn't get a chance in the field, he demonstrated that his batting eye is right in "tune." He hit one between left and center field and even with his crippled left leg he reached third on the blow.

After Dewey had slammed his homer in the first as a starter the Colonials did not take a rest until the fifth. Coyle opened the second by getting a walk and then Robins and Bobby showed the fans a new way of working the hit and run. Jack caught one of McAuliffe's fast ones on his shoulder and trotted to first. Schaffer came through with a timely single and the bases were full. Dugan hoisted a long fly to left field and Coyle scored after the catch.

Deegan lined one to deep short and beat the throw to first. This was a starter for the third inning. Raskin flied to Fogarty's rampage. Raskin flied to Fogarty's rampage. Raskin flied to Fogarty's rampage.

Hits by Dugan, Shaffer and Culliton and an error by Perry gave the Schrickmen three more tallies in the third. Deegan and Raskin both hit long triples in the fourth. Deegan scored on Tubby's hit but Schwab left Raskin stranded when he popped to Yeager.

Someone on the Colonial bench mentioned the fact that Bud had been pitching no-hit ball for four innings and immediately the charm was broken. Bill Schwab did the unusual and muffed Yeager's fly to deep left and the batter reached second. Madden and Wolfe, batting for McAuliffe, hit and McDonald also got to Bud for a single. This was the only time the Peekskill club threatened. The Colonials got these two runs back in the sixth and added one.

Wolfe, who is not Wally, last year with Gus Jay's Red Sox, but Lou Wolfe, an erratic left-hander, as left-handers go, took the mound in the fifth inning. The Colonials jumped him for three tallies in the sixth. Deegan made his third hit this inning. Dewey walked, Raskin and Coyle hit safely and the damage was done. Deegan walked in the eighth. Raskin singled, sending Matty to third. Swat Russell walked to the plate for the first time this season and was given a fine hand. He showed his appreciation by crashing the ball to deep left center field. Any player could have easily made the circuit on the blow, but with his injured knee, Swat could only hobble around to third. He scored on a passed ball.

Pat Contant got in a bad hole in the seventh and again in the eighth. In both innings he had two men on and one out. He pulled out nicely, added by sharp fielding. Corregan set the visitors down in order in the ninth except for a base on balls which he issued to McGowan.

ALL STARS BOOK GAMES

OUTSIDE OF STATE

The All Stars have just received the services of Chester, last year's catcher, and "Steve" Connolly, a young pitcher. Chester, better known as "Shitkey," will be on the receiving end. Last season he was one of the mainstays of the local club. He hit up in the .300 list. He is showing great form in practice this year and will be a big addition to the local team. Connolly will help out Freddie Stoudt in the box. He showed wonderful form last season and was with the Bridge City Red Sox for several games. Steve has nice curves.

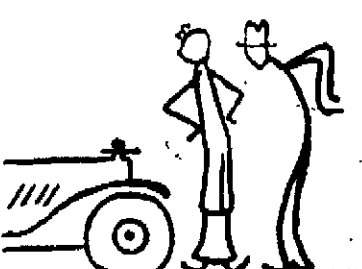

Manager McCordle has booked two games in other states, one in North Adams, Mass., the other one for June 21, in Bennington, Vermont. They will hold practice soon for the opening game on Decoration Day.

The Week at St. John's.

There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at the church on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The regular monthly meeting of the vestry will be held at the rectory on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Junior Auxiliary will meet in the Parish House on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Studebakers Win Opener.

Sunday at East Kingston the Studebaker baseball team opened the season with a win over the Ruby team, 10 to 7. Johnson and Cragan pitched for the losers, while Volker did the hurling for the Studebakers, the latter having ten strike outs. Verities and Waizka hit homers.

K. H. S. Nine to Play N. Y. M. A.

Wednesday at Fair Grounds—Probable Lineup With Pitcher Undecided—Poughkeepsie Next Opponents.

Wednesday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, the baseball team of the local high school will play its first game of the season. The opposing team will be from the New York Military Academy.

N. Y. M. A. is reputed to have a good team and a good game is expected. Coach Perry has not yet decided who will get the mound assignment because the locals play an important game with Poughkeepsie on Saturday. The rest of the lineup will probably be as follows: Capt. "Dick" Whiston, catcher; "Punk" Vogt, 1b.; "Phil" Hauser, 2b.; "Joie" Hoffman, ss.; "Nook" Messinger, 3b.; "White" Schmidt, lf.; "Mike" Howard, rf.; "Top" McLane, cf.

D. & H. GENERALS BEAT RED SOX 10 TO 3

The D. and H. Generals of Albany

opened the baseball season at Poughkeepsie Sunday afternoon by defeating the Red Sox, 10 to 3. A big crowd saw the Albany team trim the Sox. The Red Sox could do nothing with Rosback and Dollard, while the Generals hit Forsythe and McIntyre freely. Grady's hitting and Sandy's home run featured.
